

Ex Libris Activities

The Ex Libris Association provides its members with opportunities to network with librarians and archivists across the country and participate in various Canadian initiatives. ELA is an active organization of more and 200 individuals interested in a variety of activities.

ELA Annual General Meeting and .Convention

The Annual Conference is held every year, for many past years in a Toronto Public Library branch, or, more recently, via Zoom which allows for national attendance. Besides regular business and elections, programs may feature speakers and webinars. Program details will be posted as it becomes available. Conferences held in previous years beginning in 1987, including some presentations, can be viewed at this link.

ELA Tours, Speakers and Presentations

ELA has a long-standing practice of organizing tours of interest to members. Tours usually include luncheons and friendly discussion on a regular basis. As well, topical issues which speakers address are also arranged from time to time, either at ELA's annual general meeting or at a special time via electronic transmission or place.

Some presentations and videos are archived for future reference.

Webinars are another feature that ELA organizes, mostly recently in October 2023.

ELA Initiatives, Advocacy, and Cooperation with Other Organizations

- ELA sponsors the bi-annual W. Kaye Lamb Award for service to seniors with CFLA/FCAB.
- ELA sponsors a bursary for Indigenous students interested in libraries or archives.
- ELA advocates on library issues often in collaboration with other Canadian library associations with a particular focus on intellectual freedom and the value of information professionals to the institutions in which they work.
- ELA organizes sessions at provincial library associations, such as OLA, and attends various other annual conference showcases.
- ELA has a public Facebook page for members who like to communicate what they are doing and thinking.

ELAN and ELA Publishing Activities

- ELA publishing activities are focused on ELAN, the association's bi-annual newsletter. ELAN's special issue, summer 2004, was dedicated to library education.
- ELA published The Morton Years in 1995 — and important contribution to the history of librarianship in Canada.
- ELA publishes Occasional Papers by its members on its website.

ELA Historical Activities

- One major goal of ELA is to support historical research related to the history of libraries, archives, publishing houses and their workers;
- ELA published a special issue of ELAN devoted to the history of library education in Canada and compiled chronologies to supplement that history;
- ELA is engaged in the developing of a biographical database of people, a significant part of whose lives were spent in libraries, archives, publishing and related information fields.
